Refund and Cancellation Policy	1.1	July 2026	July 2027

1 | Overview

This policy sets out the circumstances under which Overleaf Publishers Ltd will offer a refund or cancellation for purchases made via the chainsawcourses.com platform. It is designed to be fair to learners while protecting the legitimate commercial interests of the company, and complies with the Consumer Contracts (Information, Cancellation and Additional Charges) Regulations 2013 and the Consumer Rights Act 2015.

2 | Digital Content & Right to Cancel

As this is a digital content product delivered online, learners who purchase an activation code via our Shopify-powered store are provided with clear pre-purchase information about the nature of the product. By activating their code and accessing the platform, learners acknowledge that digital content delivery has commenced.

Under the Consumer Contracts Regulations 2013, the 14-day statutory cancellation right for digital content is lost once the consumer has given express consent to immediate delivery and acknowledged that they will lose their right to cancel. This acknowledgement is captured during activation.

3 | Refund Eligibility
